

SUSTAINABILITY REPORTING

Excelling together though sustainability

Sustainability reporting has reached a “tipping point”. It is no longer only a “nice-to-have” but has evolved into a crucial piece of a puzzle that provides a blueprint for companies so that they can improve an organisation’s efficiency, financial performance and reputation.

Different stakeholders such as employees, customers, community and investors are becoming more aware of how Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) issues can affect a company and they are increasing their demands for businesses to improve their sustainability performance.

At Peterson Projects & Solutions, we help your organisation translate your sustainability vision into actionable goals and a solid sustainability strategy. Furthermore, we can assist you in mitigating negative impacts your business operations may have on the economy, society and environment. Last but not least, helping your company contribute to UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). We pride ourselves in the fact that we provide a full end-to-end service, including:

- Reporting review
- Materiality assessment
- Standard and scheme implementation
- Sustainability communications training
- Sustainability roadmap development
- Report design

The benefits of sustainability reporting include

CUT COSTS

Complying to environmental and social regulations while reducing the effects of climate change can help your organisation cut costs and save money

INCREASE ACCESS TO CAPITAL

Better internal governance and higher company rank in sustainability can help gain access to financial capital

RISK REDUCTION

Understanding your operations help reduce environmental, social and financial risks

BETTER REPUTATION

Transparency is one of the key factors companies find helps them build trust amongst their stakeholders

IMPROVE EFFICIENCY

The process of gathering information will help your organisation make better decisions and operate more efficiently

INNOVATION OPPORTUNITY

Discovering areas of excellence and improvement can help stimulate innovation

PROJECTS & SOLUTIONS

Who we are

Projects & Solutions is Peterson's advisory division providing pragmatic and hands-on solutions to your challenges. We support companies in achieving their sustainability goals by assisting them in defining their sustainability policies, reducing their environmental footprint and identifying potential sustainability claims and defining them accordingly.

We do this across various industries from agriculture, energy, manufacturing, forestry, biomass and biofuels to the textile. For us, helping our clients reach their sustainability goals is what we strive for. Sustainability is in our DNA.

We can help your organisation mitigate negative impacts your business operations may have on the economy, society, the environment and last but not least, your contribution to UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Peterson has offices in over 70 countries worldwide. Contact us today to find out how we can help.
